

The patient's medical condition will dictate the necessity of medical attendants. Medical attendant responsibilities are shared between all Uniformed Services but usually rest with the reporting medical treatment facility.